

CRIME, LAW, AND JUSTICE

Program Website: Crime, Law, and Justice – Hiram College (<https://www.hiram.edu/academics/undergraduate-studies/undergraduate-programs/crime-law-and-justice/>)

Introduction

The crime, law, and justice program strives to prepare students for a variety of careers within the legal system or in services related to criminal justice. Embedded within the context of the liberal arts, students at Hiram will gain skills in oral and written communication, critical thinking, and problem solving. Students will learn the foundations of the legal system in the United States and how social, economic, political, and cultural factors influence our understanding of crime and justice through both theoretical and applied courses.

Examples of careers that crime, law and justice majors may pursue include corrections, juvenile justice, FBI, CIA, probation, parole, investigation, justice and human relations, rehabilitation, victim assistance, court reporting, legal assistance, crisis intervention, policing, public policy, and security.

Some students may choose to combine this major with a pre-law program. Some may choose to use this major as part of the 3+3 BA/JD program. Students are strongly encouraged to consult with a faculty member in the program in order to plan their curriculum accordingly.

Capstone

Our three senior seminar courses (CRLJ 45200 SOCIAL THEORY and CRLJ 45500 RESEARCH METHODS and CRLJ 48000 SENIOR SEMINAR-CAPSTONE) are viewed as courses which require students to synthesize knowledge acquired in the other courses in the major. These capstone experiences require demonstration of advanced empirical and analytical skills in sociology. Crime, Law, and Justice majors must earn a minimum grade of "C" in each of the capstone courses.

Program Honors

Graduating seniors may receive program honors if they meet all of the following criteria:

- An overall grade-point average of at least 3.0
- A program grade-point average of at least 3.5
- In addition, the student must be recommended by faculty within the crime, law, and justice program for these honors.

CRLJ 10500: LAW & SOCIETY:CA: 4 Hour(s)

ISSUES IN LAW AND SOCIETY:CA ~ This course is an introduction to the American legal system (both civil and criminal law) and its relationship with social institutions. It provides students with knowledge about the connections between justice and society with particular emphasis on the law's historical origins and its structure and function within society. Several topics such as types of crime, juveniles and criminality, minorities and criminality, and social control are discussed allowing for better understanding of the significant interaction between law and humanity. Crime, Law, and Justice majors must earn a "C" or higher. This course is also listed as SOCI 10500.

Core: Social/Cultural Analysis Meth

CRLJ 18000: WKSP: 1 Hour(s)

WORKSHOP ~ This workshop will provide the opportunity for students to examine a special topic in Crime, Law and Justice. Through readings, discussions and written assignments there will be opportunities to evaluate the topic at issue. Workshops may be taken Pass/No Credit only. Students may take no more than nine workshops for credit toward graduation. Workshops can be used as elective credit only.

CRLJ 20100: CRIMINOLOGY: 4 Hour(s)

CRIMINOLOGY ~ This course explores how society defines crime, who gets labeled a "criminal," and how we punish those who commit crimes. With an emphasis on the societal impact of crime and the many theories on why criminal behavior occurs; students will examine how criminality relates to the world around them. Several topics such as the multiple types of crime, measurement trends/patterns, hate crime, drugs, organized crime and more will be examined in relation to society at large. Crime, Law, and Justice majors must earn a "C" or higher.

CRLJ 20500: VICTIMOLOGY: 4 Hour(s)

VICTIMOLOGY ~ Victimology is the scientific study of crime victims and focuses on the physical, emotional, and financial harm victims suffer due to crime. The course emphasizes defining victimology as unique from criminology, applying crime theories to victims, exploring the many ways in which people experience victimization, and how victims interact with police and play a vital role in courts and corrections. Students will analyze both victim experiences and victimization data. The course can help to prepare students in many disciplines, from criminal justice to nursing, to work with victims and understand the complexity of victim issues. This course is also listed as SOCI 20510.

CRLJ 21000: JUVENILE DELINQUENCY: 4 Hour(s)

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY ~ This course examines juvenile delinquency and the juvenile justice system in the United States. Students will be exposed to the theories that help professionals understand the development of delinquency and its causes as well as the preventative strategies that emanate from those explanations. It also provides an exploration of criminal justice careers and how juveniles interact with police and the law as well as the large variety of correctional and treatment options. With a basis in sociology, this course also looks at how major institutions and inequalities impact delinquency and the lives of youth, including the family, schools, media, class, gender, and race.
