SPORT MANAGEMENT

Students in Sport Management will have the opportunity to combine their love of sport with their passion for business.

Students will learn about the financial, managerial, sociological, historical, and legal and ethical aspects of sport management and then apply this learning in the front office or on the field during their internship experiences. Close connections with Hiram College athletics allow our students to begin developing their professional skills on campus, while our positioning in Northeast Ohio provides ample opportunities to further hone these skills with off-campus internships in professional, semi-professional, Division 1 collegiate, high school, and middle school athletics, in addition to local running events, sport and exercise facilities, and parks and recreation departments.

Through our interdisciplinary curriculum, students will advance their skills in areas highly valued by employers — including integrative problem-solving, self-awareness and management, and both written and oral communication — leaving them primed for success in the rapidly growing sport industry upon graduation.

The independent study normally requires the students to write a research paper.

SPMT 30100: HIST/PHIL OF SPORT IN US: 3 Hour(s)
HISTORY AND PHILOSOPHY OF SPORT IN THE U.S. ~ This course covers the history of sport and physical activity in the United States (1776–present) to understand the field in a broader context. Students will learn how past events and issues influence current beliefs and behaviors as well as common themes permeating throughout sport history (e.g., social and political activism). The philosophy unit of the course will cover philosophical approaches to the practice of physical activity. Students will learn how one's philosophy guides thoughts, emotions, and behaviors about relevant issues such as physical activity lifestyles and career choices.

SPMT 32000: SPORT IN A DIVERSE SOCIETY: 3 Hour(s)
SPORT IN A DIVERSE SOCIETY ~ Sports are an integral part of social life in the U.S. with millions of people growing up playing sports and/or spending countless hours watching them. In many ways, the world of sports is an arena through which we can understand more about our society's dynamics, values, and problems. This three-week course explores the intersections between sport and topics such as race, ethnicity, gender, social class, sexuality, and physical ability. Students will examine population subgroups in their historical context and how those groups have evolved over the years and how they have fared in society. The course will examine these groups from a sociological and legislative standpoint.

SPMT 35000: SPORT ETHICS & LAW: 4 Hour(s)
SPORT ETHICS & LAW ~ This course provides an extensive overview of legal principles and ethical issues in sport. The different fields of law and issues (Federal Amendment, torts, contracts, labor relations) as they relate to sport will also be introduced. In addition, the basic philosophical issues concerning ethics and moral reasoning and how these issues relate to sport will be examined. Furthermore, this course is designed to help future sport administrators develop an ethical decision-making process. Potential topics may include concepts of morality, personal philosophy regarding social responsibility, theories of ethics, professional code of ethics, etc.

Prerequisite: SPMT 10100

SPMT 38000: SEM.: 1-4 Hour(s)
